

ATLAZ Documentation Notes

Corrections and clarifications to the delivered guides | September 2026

The guides in this package were written while ATLAZ ran as a prototype. A few statements have since been overtaken by changes to the system or by the move to your own accounts. Where a guide and this sheet differ, this sheet is correct. Only one item needs any action from you.

Administrator Guide

The guide says	What is actually the case	Action
The cache-clear function needs no sign-in.	It is protected: only a signed-in admin can clear the cache. This was tightened for security.	None
Claude (Anthropic) creates the search fingerprints (embeddings).	OpenAI creates them (model text-embedding-3-small). Claude works out what a shopper means. Both keys are required.	None
Editors can use the admin dashboard and Search Settings.	Only accounts with the admin role can open the dashboard and change settings.	None. To give someone access, make them an admin (Setup Guide 09).

Presenter Guide

The guide says	What is actually the case	Action
The two admin accounts are already in the database.	That was true on the prototype. Your new database starts with no accounts, deliberately, so no prototype passwords carry over.	Create your admin account(s): Setup Guide 09, about 10 minutes.
Heading refers to questions Q1-Q5.	The table lists six (Q1-Q6). All six are valid.	None
Copy-paste query list.	The list includes "black tailored trousers" and omits "ivory silk blouse", which is in the table. Either query may be used.	None
The guides are "at the repository root".	They are in the 04-DOCUMENTATION folder of this package.	None
Two curated demo searches.	These appear only when the setting DEMO_FIXTURES=1 is turned on (settings template, section 8). With it off, those searches show live catalog results.	Optional: turn it on before a demo.

Phase 2 Completion Report

The report says	What is actually the case	Action
Demo results live in lib/search.ts , lines 123-200.	They were moved to lib/demo-fixtures.ts . What they do is unchanged.	None
